Wasco County Data from the Family Participation Survey

November 2008

This data is presented in response to the Annual Data Report to the Governance Council presentation that occurred at the Governance Council meeting in October 2008. Positive comments related to education from the Family Participation Survey have been summarized in the table below:

I was just thankful that they had all these things available for kids when they mess up. I'm grateful for all of the help and support.
Very cooperative staff. I think that our education staff is very very good.
Everything was done very well.
I just feel blessed to have these things for the children.
The meeting with the school was about getting [him/her] on track--coming together with getting [her/his] daily school work done and turned in. The meeting was very helpful, they [school staff] came up with several suggestions, and asked youth to come up with [some] things [he/she] could do..., [He/She] meets... after school with teachers, turns in work, and makes a concerted effort with each teacher.
They do a pretty good job of it.
I think we are on the right track - but with this school you have to keep nudging them.
There were suggestions made by [doctor] regarding [his/her] [MH condition] that are being followed.
It went great.
It's great - they really care about [him/her]. So it's really good.
I was very impressed with how everybody seemed to genuinely care about my child. [His/her] teacher especially has bent over backward to help [him/her] with [his/her] problems and helped keep [him/her] on track. There is such a difference between the [current school and my child's old school] system. I think the problem is that most people don't offer help- you have to ask for it!
The principal was very helpful and positive in discussing how far my child has come both behaviorally and academically. It was helpful to have next year's special ed teach there. They really recognized that getting a good match for [his/her] classroom teacher was important.
I felt it was extremely thorough.
I'm very thrilled with all of what they are doing.
I'm pleased with the progress my child has made. I'm really happy with [teacher]... [He/She] has brought my child into focus and has worked with my child and my child's teachers.
